

Pediatric patients throughout the Komansky Center for Children's Health were treated to gift bags compliments of the Family Advisory Council. Just take a look -

The Holiday Bags

Each bag was organized by tissue paper so they could be sorted by the patient's age category (infant/toddler, school-age and teen and NICU). For example, the snowflake tissue was the toddler bag - complete with fun toys like a magic duck wand, books, and a caterpillar toy. All of the items were secured by the KCFAC members through individual and corporate donations. The books were donated by a company and MP3 players were donated to all the children in the NICU from a KCFAC member's family who had had a child in the NICU.

Stuffing the Bags

The bags were stuffed by KCFAC members on Monday, December 22 and distributed on Tuesday, December 23.

Opening the Gift Bags

FAC members pulled a red wagon around each unit to distribute the gifts and personally wish each child a happy holiday.
